

September Twenty Two
1919.

Mrs. Andrew Carnegie,
New York City.

Dear Madam:

The Directors of the Eau Claire Public Library would tender to you and your family their heartfelt sympathy in this hour of your deep sorrow. They would also add their tribute to the memory of your husband.

For twenty years our library, made possible by the wise beneficence of Mr. Carnegie, has broadened and enriched the life of this community, and ours is but one of the many throughout this country and the world. These libraries and his many other benefactions are monuments both to his interest in his fellow men and the wisdom shown by him in his efforts to aid them. His life has been and will continue to be an inspiration to others.

Wishing you all life's richest blessings, we remain

Sincerely yours,

Board of Directors of the
Eau Claire Public Library,
Eau Claire, Wisconsin.
