What you’ll need . . .
» Book pages
» White glue
» Glue brush

1. Begin with five pieces of book pages cut to 6 by 6 inches. Fold the square into a triangle.

2. Fold the two creased corners down to create a smaller square.

3. Fold the two triangular flaps in half.

4. Open these flaps up, then re-fold them flat, so that the inner crease falls to the outside.
5. Fold the tips up.

6. Fold the triangular flaps in half inward. The final shape of the paper will be a square.

7. To create a petal, apply white glue to the flaps with a glue brush, carefully roll the petal and press the two flaps together. Allow the glue to tack up. Repeat to create five petals.

8. Apply a line of glue to the inner crease of one petal and adhere another petal to the first.

9. Continue the process to join all five petals.
