What you’ll need . . .
» Duct tape
» Scissors
» Velcro
» Ruler

* Consider using two different patterns for the interior and exterior of your pouch. Extra flare!

1 Measure two lengths of duct tape to about 10” and cut. Overlap one length of duct tape with the other so the two pieces together measure 3”×10”.

2 Repeat step one, then place the two wide sections of duct tape you’ve created together with the pattern on the outside. This will be your pouch “fabric.” Tidy up fabric edges by trimming off excess tape.
3. Fold your fabric to create a pocket about 3⅛” deep, as shown.

4. Measure and cut a new length of duct tape, 7” long. Cut this piece of duct tape in half lengthwise.

5. Place one narrow piece of duct tape along each side of your folded pouch and fold around to the other side. This seals the pouch edges.
6. Snip the excess tape around your pouch’s pocket so that the pocket is open from one edge to the other. Trim extra duct tape from top and bottom of pouch.

7. Measure and cut a new length of duct tape, 3” long. Cut this piece in half lengthwise. Place one half on the top of your pouch, as in steps 4–5. This creates a nice sealed edge on the top to match the sides.

8. Place a piece of Velcro on your pouch to create a closure. Trim any extra duct tape pieces.